Objective

Cavanal Hill's Fixed Income Strategies are rooted in the belief that inefficiencies do exist in the marketplace and, through active management, we can provide value to our clients by taking advantage of these opportunities. We believe that excess return is good, but risk-adjusted excess return is even better. The pursuit of superior returns must be tempered with strong risk management processes.

Process

Cavanal Hill's fixed income management process is fundamentally driven, disciplined, diversified, and value-oriented. Our process focuses on what we consider out-of-favor sectors, making opportunistic purchases in market sectors currently being neglected by the market, and being compensated for providing liquidity where it is least available. Downside volatility is managed by purchasing securities at what we believe are significant discounts to intrinsic value.

Portfolio Construction

Portfolios are constructed with high-quality, U.S. dollar-denominated securities rated investment grade or better at time of purchase. Primary consideration is given to out-of-favor sectors of the high-grade bond market. We believe dislocations between buyers and sellers often develop in the fixed income markets resulting in large inefficiencies. This opportunistic strategy aims to exploit these inefficiencies by purchasing securities at what we believe is a significant discount to their intrinsic value. Portfolio construction is based on a buy and hold strategy in which excess returns are generated by acting as the providers of liquidity. No single non-government security will be more than 5% of the portfolio value at the time of purchase.
